Items of Interest Culled From Our Exchanges.

The Globe-Miami district will play the part of host to visitors from every part of the nation who will assemble at Roosevelt Dam on April 15 for the high water celebration.—Tucson Star.

Jess Willard, the new heavy-weight champion, will pass through Arizona shortly enroute to his home on a small ranch near Los Angeles. His wife and four children are among the many awaiting his arrival.

The rainy season for the Casa Grande valley has come to an end and the farmers have reason to be jubilant, for the roads are now in good condition for travel, enabling them to make regular trips to market.—The Bulletin.

It is alleged that many citizens of Chicago are dodging the payment of the income tax. The best way to do this would be to transfer their incomes to some struggling newspaper men who would be more than willing to pay the tax on them.

The Bisbee Ore issued a creditable Sunday edition of that progressive sheet, blossoming out with an eight-page advertising number, on the occasion of the business men of Bisbee having made a get-together trip to the Sulphur Spring valley.

Notwithstanding all reports to the contrary advanced by those who are opposed to Safford being selected as the county seat, Graham county is entirely out of debt and is in fine shape for a bond issue, if one should be necessary for a new court house.

Vice President Marshall and Mrs. Marshall have arrived at their home in Scottsdale, near Phoenix, and will remain there until the duties of the Vice President necessitate his return to Washington. Mr. Marshall seemed in ill health when he arrived in Phoenix.

At a recent meeting of the city council of Flagstaff it was decided to lay nine miles of cement sidewalks in the near future. The necessary legal steps are now being taken and it is expected that the sidewalk will be ready before the rush of summer visitors begins.

The Chandle gin shut down Saturday for the season and Manager Sprigg reports a total of 1823 bales ginned, the largest amount of any gin in the valley. About 60 cars of cotton have been sold. Market reports show long staple has advanced to 23 cents a pound.—Arizonan.

In a recent decision the Supreme Court reversed the finding of the lower court in favor of the Cunningham heirs, in the famous Costello-Cunningham mine case, and remanded it for a new trial. The mines are in Cochise County, and the amount involved is $125,000, aside from court costs.

Last Saturday the land office at Phoenix received an executive order withdrawing from settlement, entry, sale or other disposition about 3500 acres of land lying along the Gila river, commencing at a point about eight miles east of Florence and extending several miles eastward along that stream.

An appeal to the women of England to take over the tasks of the men while the latter are engaged in killing Germans is meeting with a generally favorable response. Their recent experiences in their campaign of belligerency on behalf of suffrage would seem to eminently qualify them to perform almost any sort of work.

Municipal ownership of a light and power plant is now being agitated by the business men of Florence with the prospect that some definite step will be taken in the near future. Florence at the present time has neither a light or power plant, but the proposition advanced is for the city to issue bonds for a sum sufficient to erect a plant.

The withdrawal of certain lands along the Gila east of Florence is evidence that something definite is to be done looking toward the construction of the San Carlos reservoir. The fact of this withdrawal leaves only the O. T. and the old Florence canal with rights to take water from the Gila on the south side of the river east of Florence.—Blade.

The case of the State of Arizona vs. Mrs. Wm. Old, charged with the killing of her husband, who was deputy sheriff at Pearce, some six or eight months ago, will be tried in Tombstone this month. The circumstances surrounding the killing of Deputy Sheriff Old, pointed to the fact that his wife did the killing, although, it is stated, she asserts it was accidental. Mrs. Old is out on bond at the present time.

Efforts are being made to arrange for the sending of an accredited state representative to Cibola, in western Yuma county, where it is alleged that California farmers are driving piling and building a levee to deflect the current of the Colorado river several miles eastward, into a former channel. If this is done, it is stated, several thousand acres of school lands, belonging to the state of Sonora, will be washed away.

A. L. Pellegrin, a mineralogist and assayer, of Tucson, accompanied by Mr. Mott, a practical mining man, were in town Wednesday on business. Mr. Pellegrin is the man who rediscovered values in the old Yuma mine, near Tucson, and whose investigations induced Colonel Randolph, of the Southern Pacific, and associates to bond the property and push development. The ore carries values in gold, molybdenum and vanadium.—Signal.

Last Monday's issue of the Bisbee Ore stated that the Shattuck company was putting on sixty men a day and would continue to do so until the force had been brought up to full working size. The Ore stated that the Copper Queen and C. & A. companies were also putting on more men. The entire outlook, says the paper, is excellent and has been reflected the last few days by much business improvement in the Warren district.

In looking over the mining work in this district for the past week there is nothing but good to report. The work in all directions has been seven days of advancement toward that end to which the people of the district are looking forward to in a most eager manner—the increasing of the working force. Work on the mill is being pushed in a most energetic manner and development work at the Oregon, Lucky Cuss, West Side, Northwest, Telephone and Tranquility mines of the Phelps-Dodge people continue in a most satisfactory manner.—Tombstone Prospector.

WILL CENTRALIZE COLLEGES.

At the meeting of the board of regents of the University of Arizona held yesterday (April 10) plans were completed for centralizing all of the colleges at the University under the general direction of the administrative department. Hitherto some of the colleges have been more or less independent.

The meeting was attended by Chancellor Frank H. Hereford, Governor Geo. W. P. Hunt, Superintendent of Public Instruction, C. O. Case, Dean Wm. Scarlett of Phoenix, Judge F. J. Duffy, of Nogales, Dr. Kennedy, of Globe, and Dr. W. V. Whitmore of Tucson. W. J. Bryan, Jr., was detained in Phoenix on U. S. court business. Rudolph Rasmussen was detained in California on business and L. D. Ricketts could not be present.

The regents were entertained at luncheon by Mrs. Von Klein Smid. After the meeting they inspected the work on the new agricultural building which is almost under roof and will be ready for occupancy in the fall.—Star.

BUILDING BOOM IN CITY.

Fifteen New Residences Being Constructed in Nogales.

Approximately fifteen new residences are at present under construction or will shortly be commenced in Nogales.

This does not include apartment houses, business buildings or other construction work, such as garages, etc.

In the list of building permits during the past month and in the records of the Building and Loan Association of Nogales, it is to be found the glad story of the prosperity of the Key City of the border.

And it is significant that practically all of the residences proposed and under construction will be a vast credit to the city for their architecture, cost and beauty.

There will be no shoddy construction in the houses. Nogales builders, Nogales architects and Nogales property owners have seen to that.

Some people who are building: Benjamin M. Ashby, conductor on the Sud Pacifico de Mexico, is one of the progressive citizens of Nogales who are building. He is constructing a $3,000 home on Marsh Heights.

On Marsh Heights also, J. E. McIntyre is building a fine residence to cost in the neighborhood of $4,000.

E. M. Mather will spend $3,500 on a seven-roomed residence on Marsh Heights.

George W. Dundbar is constructing a $3,000 home.

J. D. Barry of the firm of Barry and Barry, attorneys, is building a thirty-five hundred dollar home on Noon street.

C. E. Wheeler will build a $2,000 home on Grand avenue between the Fowler and Glissan homes.

W. J. Neumann is building a costly residence on Noon Hill.

Samuel Leeker's fine new residence on Court street is near completion.

Rafael G. Caman is erecting a handsome residence on Arroyo Boulevard in the Noon subdivision at a cost of $2,500.

A. L. Smith is spending $300 on a building in lot 728, block 16.

E. E. Noon will erect a fine home on Noon Hill.

W. H. Smith is erecting a splendid residence on Ellis, addition.

The home of S. F. Noon in Ellis Addition is near completion.

These are some of the new homes going up in Nogales. The Building and Loan Association, which has built 40 per cent of Nogales, has six out standing applications. At least a dozen others in the city are contemplating building.—Daily Herald.

Call Convention of Arizona W. C. T. U.

The twenty sixth annual convention of the Arizona Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held in Tempe April 28, and 30.

Wednesday will be devoted to official board, executive committee and state superintendent meetings. Convention work will open Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Unions are entitled to one delegate for every ten members, and major fraction thereof.

State superintendents are members of the executive committee. Presidents of local unions are members of both official board and executive committee.

Those expecting to attend the convention should notify Mrs. Hattie E. Buck, Tempe, as soon as possible. Imogen La Chance, president; Eleanor W. Wood, secretary.—Yuma Sun.

The grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will hold its annual meeting in Phoenix on April 19, 20 and 21. The grand encampment and the Rebekah assembly will meet at the same time. Special rates have been secured on all the railroads and the delegates and visitors will be able to purchase round trip tickets at one and one-third times the regular one-way fare.

IN THE ALTO COUNTRY.

It is believed, from information recently received here, that the Viceroy Group of Mines, in the Alto country, will again be worked, and on a larger scale than when last in operation, says last week's Patagonian.

This group, which is a fine copper property, belongs to Frank H. Baack, formerly of Janesville, Wis., but now of Harvard, Ill. The group was originally owned by George Clark, Jens Peterson and Mr. Baack, the first two later selling their interest.

The Viceroy on the east joins the Bland mine, another excellent copper property owned by William Powers, Frank Reichert and Mr. Hecht.

Extensive development work has been done on the Viceroy group, and it is believed that it will make a big mine at depth, and a success here will give great impetus to the development of the mines in the Santa Ritas. The Burro group and Joplin group adjoin this property on the northwest.

The Victor mine, a copper-lead-silver proposition owned by Dr. Bacon and others, adjoins the Viceroy on the northeast. The Victor group is patented and considerable work has been done on it.

Rev. J. M. Hackett's property, where extensive work has been done, is on the south line of the Viceroy.

The Ruby Copper Company is about two miles north of the Victor. The Hosey (McDonald mine) joins the Ruby on the north. The Alto and the Royal Blue are only a short distance to the northwest. The Wandering Jew joins the Alto on the northwest, then comes Josiah Bond's property, and north of that is the Josephine country, which has shown well with considerable development work, several smelter shipments having been made, the ore running close to one hundred dollars a ton.

All Happened Over a Paper.

A man who was too stingy to take his home paper sent his small son to borrow a copy from a neighbor. In his haste, the boy knocked over four hives of bees and as a result was badly stung. When his son's cries reached the father's ears the fond parent at once started to his aid, but failed to notice a barb wire fence, which he ran into, ruining a four dollar pair of pants and cutting himself considerably. The family cow took advantage of the hole in the fence by getting into the field and killing herself eating corn. Hearing the noise, his wife ran out, upsetting a four gallon churn of rich cream into a small basket, containing some little kittens, drowning the whole family, and in her hurry dropped a $17 set of false teeth. The baby, who was alone in the house, crawled through the spilled cream into the parlor, ruining a new $25 rug. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran off with the hired man and a goat broke his chain and chewed the tails off four shirts on the clothes line.—Exchange.

HONOR IS CANILLE'S.

Nogales, Ariz., April 18. Editor Tucson Star: We have noticed in the Star and other Arizona papers a statement that Miss Ora Mathews of Maricopa county is the first woman deputy sheriff appointed in Arizona. We beg to correct this impression since Santa Cruz county has had a woman deputy sheriff and constable since the November elections. Mrs. Lucretia Roberts of Canille, Arizona, was elected constable of the Canille precinct and immediately appointed deputy sheriff. She is proving an efficient officer, too. The same precinct elected a woman justice of the peace, Mrs. Eason. Mrs. Roberts is a fine horsewoman and a crack shot.

Very truly yours,
J. B. BRISTOL,
Secretary of Nogales Chamber of Commerce.
